

Behold! Top 100 Dating Anthems: Tinder Reveals the top tracks sparking connections in Australia

Sydney, January 25 2021: 'Music makes the people come together'. Who said that? That's right, Madonna. And, as we know, anything this enduring cultural icon says instantly becomes gospel truth (and law, in our eyes).

To put it in more Australian terms, music and dating go together like meat pies and tomato sauce. Or Maccas fries and ice cream (try it, you'll never go back). Sparking up a chat about your fave artist, going to watch a band on a first date or just sharing a Spotify playlist is always a sure fire way to make sure you and the person you're chatting to are vibing on the same sonic wavelength. In fact, 2-in-5 of young Aussies say that having the same taste in music is one of the most important factors when it comes to dating.

As we approach one of Australia's most important musical moments - triple j's Hottest 100 countdown - we wanted to take a moment to rummage around Aussie's chosen Tinder Anthems to see what songs Aussie daters are using on their profiles to sonically woo potential suitors. We're calling it Tinder's 100 Dating Anthems - the list of audio goodness facilitating swipes in Australia. And here are our six main take-outs:

- The TikTok effect is real: The top five tracks in the 100 Dating Anthems are all viral earworms that have been doing the rounds on TikTok. From The Weeknd's Blinding Lights (admit it, you've tried to learn the dance) to the wet cats of WAP, these are the same songs that have been blasting out of our phones during relentless scrolling sessions over the past year
- It's the US artists, for me: America! F*ck Yeah! Americana has reigned supreme on Aussie's Tinder beats - with US artists dominating most of the 100 Dating Anthems. While the OG Hottest 100 champions tons of homegrown Aussie and NZ artists (hi BENEE!), very few make it into Tinder profiles (with exceptions of RUFUS, Lime Cordiale and Sticky Fingers)
- Time to update your anthem: We asked and Gen-z Aussies voted, and they are most likely to match with someone if they have Billie Eilish or Harry Styles as their Anthem on Tinder. The only issue? Aussie aren't practising what they preach, with Harry Styles's summer hit Watermelon Sugar sitting at a surprising #19 and Billie Eilish's everything i wanted barely making the list ranking at #96.
- Rap, WAP & Mac Domination: Rap artists abound on the 100 Dating Anthems list, with acts like Megan Thee Stallion & Cardi B serving body-oddy-oddy WAP realness and Drake, Roddy Rich and DaBaby taking top spots in the top ten. There's also a sprinkling of nostalgia with the likes of Fleetwood Mac's Dreams (no doubt after its meme-fuelled comeback of late 2020) and The Killers' Mr Bridgside (?) which feels like heavy Millennial energy to us
- Aussie, Aussie, Aussie, Oi, Oi, Oi: National treasures are romantic in theory, but not in practice. You'll notice icons from Johnny Farnham, to Nollsy and Daryl Braithwaite didn't crack the top 100, despite Daryl coming in as the 7th artist Aussies are most likely to look out for on someone's Tinder profile. No need to panic, The Veronica's just made the cut with Untouched coming in at #59
- The unexpected sounds of swipe: There were some artists we expected to see a few times on the list, from Drake holding five spots, The Weeknd with four and Juice WRLD at six. But the real surprise was Aussie daters love for country music with Luke Combs holding three spots in the 100 Dating Anthems for Beer Never Broke My Heart (#33), Beautiful Crazy (#38) and When It Rains It Pours (#83). And TBH we aren't mad about ABBA sliding into the top 100 with Gimme! Gimme! Gimme! (A Man After Midnight) sitting at #69

And if you're in need of an ice-breaker? Check out these belters inspired by some of the top 100 tunes

Feeling sassy? 'Certified freak, seven days a week' (Cardi B, Megan Thee Stallion - WAP)

Feeling moody? 'I'm a sad girl, in this big world' (BENEE - supalonely)

Feeling direct? 'If I put it quite plainly, just gimme them babies' (Ariana Grande - 34+35)

Feeling mysterious? 'Have you any dreams you'd like to sell' (Fleetwood Mac - Dreams)

So there you have it. While the nation awaits the reveal of its annual musical countdown and 1-in-5 gen-z's judge their date by their hottest 100 submissions, the single gen-z's of the national have shown us their songs to swipe to.
